Then our darling baby, Ida, With her dark blue loving eyes,

ame to us a gentle angel,
Wandering from the starry skies She's a dainty winsome creature, With her soft and silken hair Straying 'round her levely forehead

As the snowy lily fair. Dimpled hands of tiny pattern; Her voice, music soft and low, And 'neath her broidered wrappi Peeps anon a pink white toe.

Rosy lips put up so pouting

As if asking for a kiss;

She's the rose leaf of tradition—

Laid upon our cup of bliss. How quietly she came stealing, Neetling in each waiting heart, Folding there, her little ringlets, Knowing she had there a part.

Our jewel from Him given; That when her earthly mission's over, She may wander back to Heaven.

Triumphs of Labor.

The following eloquent tribute to Labor is from the pen of the gifted Chapin. Hear Him:

"And who can adequately describe the triumphs of labor, urged by the potent spell of money? It has extorted he secrets of the universe, and trained its powers into myriad forms of use and beauty. From the bosom of the old creation it has developed anew the creation of industry and of art. It has been its task and its glory to overcome obstacles. Mountains have been evelled, and valleys exalted before it. It has broken the rocky soil into fertile globes; it has crowned the hill tops with verdure, and bound around the very feet of ocean ridges with golden corn. Up from sunless and hoary deeps, up from the shapeless quarry it drags its spotless marble and rears its palace of pomp. It tears the stubborn metals from the bowels of the earth, and makes them ductile to its will. It marches steadily on, over the swelling flood and through the winds of ocean, tramples its hoarse surges, and mingles them with flakes of fire.

Civilization follows its path. It achieves greater victories, it weaves more durable trophies, it holds wider sway, than the conquerer. His name becomes tainted and his monuments crumble; but labor converts his red battle field into gardens, and erects nonuments significant of better things It sits crowned as a queen in a tho and cities, and sends up its roar of tri umph from a million of wheels. It rings and sparkles from the stately nammer, it glowes in shapes of beauty it speaks in words of power, it makes the sinewy arm strong with liberty, the poor man's heart rich with content, and crowns the sweaty brow with honor dignity and peace.'

In the Opposition as above indicated. we comprise 10 Anti-Lecompton Democrats, including the Illinois members. The two Know-Nothings elected in Missouri we concede to the Democrats. In the present Congress the Republi-cans have in the above States 80 members, and the Democrats 64. The above table shows, therefore, a Republican gain of 30, or an opposition gain of 36. It also shows a Democratic loss of 36. It also shows a Democratic loss of 36 and a change of 72 votes against the Administration. Fifteen States are yet to hold elections, which in the present Congress are represented by 64 Democrats, 11 Know-Nothings, and 6 Republicans. If the Democrats and the eleven Know-Nothings, and 6 the eleven Know-Nothings in the present Congress, they could then only muster a vote of 108. Granting then that the Republicans hold their own in the States which have not elected members, and the opposition strength in the next Congress will be 122—a clean majority of 8 in the next House, But the prospect is better than this, for we shall gain one member in Connecticut, with a fair chance for two in Minnesota, which would be a change of ten votes in favor of the opposition. It is probable, moreover, that in decisive yotes upon the slavery question we could count as formerly upon at least four votes from Kentucky and Maryland.—Detroit Tribune.

At the present time there is quite a large number of persons who will not be trusted at all, and there is a much larger portion of the community who cannot get credit any where, but are obliged to pay cash at credit prices. These two classes form, perhaps, more than one-half of our population, and there is no good reason why a poor man should pay more than a rich one; and no sense at all in charging CASH CUSTOMERS for bad debts incurred under the present mode of merchandizing. If the people will only bestow one thought upon the subject they will at once see that—paying customers assume all the bad debts, or, in other words, they take all the risks of the credit system. The present time is very discouraging for making debts, the obligations of the people are now very large, larger by far than the crops this season will discharge. Property of all kinds is continually running down, and how would it be with us in the event of a total or even partial failure of the crops next season? Is there one so blind that he cannot see that in such an event it would take a large amount of property to pay a very small debt. Who then, is so bold as to increase their liabilities under this state of things?

Let Retrenchment, Economy, Industry, Perseverance and no more MAKING DEBTS be the Watchword, and take our word for it, in less than three years' time we shall be free from debts, sitting by our own firesides surrounded with plenty, contented and happy.

SPRAGUE & HAWKS THE UNITED STATES A New Patent Elevated Oven

COOKING STOVE ON AN ENTIRELY ORIGINAL PRINCIPLE.

In this valuable invention we do away with all the objections ever made to the elevated Oven Stove. The pipe-flue is placed in front of the oven, in fact, forming a part of the oven itself, and by this means we are enabled to regulate the baking more perfectly than in any other store which was ever made. We have but one damper to it, which has three wings never liable to get out of order, and is also patented. By turning the damper one way, we force all the heat and flame under and up in the back of the oven, over the top, and thence down in front, until it enters into the flue, and passes off the curvature in the bottom of the oven, which requires the heat to descend, and hugs the oven during the circuit. Reversing the same damper, we totally exclude the entire heat from the oven, it all passing into the flue direct, without even reaching the oven. This simple and beautiful arrangement needs, we are certain, no further recommendation from us. The pipe being thus located, the stove can be set close to the wall or side of the room, with a small zinck or tinned board hung on the wall; the pipe being so far from the wall as not to injure it; the stove, so set, will occupy less room than ordinary square or dividing flue stoves.

Fever and Ague,

from which mankind suffer over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poisonous miasm of vegetable decay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor from it. While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. There it acts as an irritating poison on the internal viscera and exercting organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and fails to accrete not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile accumulate in the circulation, and produce violent constitutional disorder. The spleen, the kidneys, and the stomach sympathize with the liver, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct of our organism, as if in an attempt to expel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excretories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rushes to the central organs with congestive violence. This is the Carll. But in this effort it fails. Then the FEVER follows, in which the blood leaves the central organs and rushes to the surface, as if in another effort to expel the irritating poison through that other great excretory—the skin. In this also it fails, and the system abendons the attempt exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat she hopeless effort another day. These are the fits or paroxysms of Faven and Agur. Such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health if it is not removed.

We have labored to find, and have found, an which mankind suffer over a large part of Such constitutional disorder will of course under-mine the health if it is not removed. We have labored to find, and have found, an Ayer's Ague Cure, which neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the body. As it should, so it does eare this afflicting disorder with perfect certainty. And it does more, or rather does what is of more service to those subject to this infection. If taken in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cares, but protects from the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb, or Masked Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, Bilious Fevers, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarch, Asthma, Palpitations, Painful Affections of the Spiece, Hysterics, Colic, Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the Stomach and Bowels, all of which, when arising from this canse, will be found to assume more or less the intermittent type. This "Ague Curae" removes the cause of these derangements, and cares the disease.

This it accomplishes by atimulating the excre-

This it accomplishes by stimulating the excretories to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by degrees become habited to do this their office of their own accord. Hence arises what we term acclimatation. Time may accomplish the same end, but often life is not long enough, or is sacrificed in the attempt, while this "AOUE CURE" does it at once, and with safety. We have great reason to believe this is a surer as well as safer remedy for the whole class of diseases which are caused by the miasmatic infection, than any other which has been discovered; and it has still another important advantage to the public, which is, that it is cheap as well as good.
